

United States History and Geography — Teacher Key

United States History and Geography · Tennessee Academic Standards 2027-28 · Form FORM-A TEACHER COPY — contains answer keys and rationales. Not for student distribution.

classroom-formative · pre-field-test. Item parameters are estimates and have not met a student; this form is not a calibrated instrument. This form assesses Depth of Knowledge levels 1 through 4.

1. What were the "Three Rs" of the New Deal?

- A. Regulate, Restrict, and Reorganize
- B. Relief, Recovery, and Reform
- C. Reduce, Reuse, and Recycle
- D. Repair, Rebuild, and Restore

KEY: B · DOK 1 · US.46

Why the key is right: The "Three Rs" of the New Deal were relief, Recovery, and Reform. Roosevelt used those three goals to give immediate help, restart the economy, and change the system after the Great Depression. D is incorrect because it describes a different program, event, or idea than this New Deal policy. It showed how the federal government expanded its role during the Great Depression.

A — Regulation was a real New Deal activity, but it was one instrument of Reform rather than one of the three headings.

C — This is the modern environmental slogan, not a New Deal term. The overlap is the letter R, not the history.

D — These words describe repair generally but name none of the New Deal's three aims: immediate relief, economic recovery, and structural reform.

Item analysis

Standard

US.46 — Analyze the effects of and the controversies arising from New Deal economic policies, including charges of socialism and President Franklin D. Roosevelt's "court packing" attempt.

DOK / Hess

Level 1 — The student retrieves a three-word label. One recalled fact, which is DOK-1; explaining how a given programme served relief rather than reform would be DOK-2.

Reporting category

— (source of record: UNMAPPED)

IRT

a 0.71 · b -1.03 · c 0.22 (pre-field-test — estimates, not calibrated against student responses)

Format

classroom-formative (tcapFormat: false — not affirmed — no human has judged this item field-testable)

Bias / sensitivity

not-started

Citation

—

Historian review

Sean Reynolds,

Distractor diagnosis

A — mistakes an instrument of the New Deal for one of its three aims; C — substitutes the modern recycling slogan for the New Deal's Three Rs; D — guesses plausible-sounding R words without the programme's actual aims

2. How did the New Deal change the relationship between workers and employers?

- A. Fascism promoted extreme nationalism; communism promoted class revolution
- B. Desperate populations supported strong leaders who promised stability
- C. Gave workers legal rights to unionize, bargain collectively, and strike
- D. Refinanced mortgages to prevent foreclosures and keep families in homes

KEY: C · DOK 1 · US.46

Why the key is right: Before 1935 an employer could fire a worker simply for joining a union. The Wagner Act made union membership, collective bargaining and striking legally protected and created the NLRB to enforce them. The change was legal standing, not wages: workers could now negotiate as a body rather than one at a time.

A — This contrasts two European ideologies and has no bearing on the rights American workers gained under the Wagner Act.

B — This describes why authoritarian movements gained support in Depression-era Europe, not what changed for American workers.

D — This is the Home Owners' Loan Corporation's work on mortgages. It helped families keep houses; it changed nothing about bargaining at work.

Item analysis

Standard

US.46 — Analyze the effects of and the controversies arising from New Deal economic policies, including charges of socialism and President Franklin D. Roosevelt's "court packing" attempt.

DOK / Hess

Level 1 — The student must identify what changed in a relationship — the legal standing of workers against employers — rather than recall an event. That is a relationship, which is DOK-2 in intent, though the item is levelled DOK-1 here because the change is directly named in the key.

Reporting category

— (source of record: UNMAPPED)

IRT

a 0.51 · b -0.48 · c 0.21 (pre-field-test — estimates, not calibrated against student responses)

Format

classroom-formative (tcapFormat: false — not affirmed — no human has judged this item field-testable)

Bias / sensitivity

not-started

Citation

—

Historian review

Sean Reynolds,

Distractor diagnosis

A — answers a comparative-ideology question that was not asked; B — answers with European political conditions rather than U.S. labour law; D — confuses New Deal housing relief with New Deal labour policy

3. Use the photograph to answer the question. This photograph shows a TVA dam completed during the New Deal era. (Photograph, c. 1936. Public Domain.) How did New Deal programs like the TVA, shown in this photograph, represent a change in the role of the federal government?

- A. The government reduced its involvement in the economy and allowed private industry to manage recovery
- B. The federal government's role remained unchanged from the policies of the 1920s
- C. The TVA was a private utility corporation that operated without any federal funding or oversight
- D. The federal government took direct responsibility for economic development and public welfare

KEY: D · DOK 2 · US.46

Why the key is right: The TVA represented a dramatic expansion of federal power. For the first time, the government directly owned and operated an electric utility, planned regional economic development, and employed thousands of workers. This reflected FDR's philosophy that the government had a responsibility to ensure economic security and development.

A — The TVA is the clearest case of the opposite: the federal government built and ran dams and sold the power itself.

B — Federal public works on this scale had no 1920s precedent; that discontinuity is the point of the image.

C — The TVA was created by Congress in 1933 as a federally owned corporation. Reading it as private misses why critics called it socialism.

Item analysis

Standard

US.46 — Analyze the effects of and the controversies arising from New Deal economic policies, including charges of socialism and President Franklin D. Roosevelt's "court packing" attempt.

DOK / Hess

Level 2 — The student must read an image of infrastructure and infer what it shows about the federal government's role — a relationship between evidence and a claim, which is DOK-2. Naming the agency in the photograph would be DOK-1.

Reporting category

— (source of record: UNMAPPED)

IRT

a 1.3 · b 0.1 · c 0.2 (pre-field-test — estimates, not calibrated against student responses)

Format

classroom-formative (tcapFormat: false — not affirmed — no human has judged this item field-testable)

Bias / sensitivity

not-started

Citation

—

Historian review

Sean Reynolds,

Distractor diagnosis

A — reverses the direction of federal involvement under the New Deal; B — treats the New Deal as continuous with 1920s policy; C — mistakes a federally owned corporation for a private company

4. Why did critics of the New Deal charge that FDR's programs represented socialism?

- A. Because the New Deal greatly expanded federal regulation of the economy and created public employment and Social Security
- B. Because FDR eliminated private property rights by redistributing land from wealthy Americans to the poor
- C. Because New Deal programs abolished all private and religious charities in favor of state services
- D. Because FDR called for nationalizing all major American industries and placing them under government ownership

KEY: A · DOK 2 · US.46

Why the key is right: New Deal opponents — including business leaders and conservatives — argued that programs like the TVA (a government-owned utility), the AAA (government interference in markets), and Social Security (a government welfare program) crossed the line from capitalism into socialism by making the government a major economic actor.

B — Private property rights were not abolished; New Deal farm policy paid owners to limit production rather than redistributing their land.

C — Private and religious charities continued throughout the 1930s; federal relief supplemented them because their resources had been exhausted.

D — FDR never proposed nationalising major industries. The charge rested on regulation and public employment, not government ownership.

Item analysis

Standard

US.46 — Analyze the effects of and the controversies arising from New Deal economic policies, including charges of socialism and President Franklin D. Roosevelt’s “court packing” attempt.

DOK / Hess

Level 2 — The student must connect features of New Deal programs to the political charge made against them, which is a cause-and-claim relationship — DOK-2. Recalling that critics used the word 'socialism' would be DOK-1.

Reporting category

— (source of record: UNMAPPED)

IRT

a 1.3 · b 0.4 · c 0.2 (pre-field-test — estimates, not calibrated against student responses)

Format

classroom-formative (tcapFormat: false — not affirmed — no human has judged this item field-testable)

Bias / sensitivity

not-started

Citation

—

Historian review

Sean Reynolds,

Distractor diagnosis

B — confuses regulation and subsidy with land redistribution; C — assumes federal relief replaced private charity; D — overstates the charge as nationalisation of industry

5. Design a "New Deal Report Card" that grades THREE specific programs on two criteria: (1) effectiveness in addressing the immediate crisis, and (2) long-term impact on American government and society. For each program, assign a letter grade (A-F) for each criterion and justify your grading with specific historical evidence.

KEY: — · DOK 3 · US.46

Why the key is right: A strong response should grade three New Deal programs separately for short-term relief and long-term impact, because a program like the CCC could help quickly while Social Security reshaped government for decades. It should justify each grade with evidence, such as immediate jobs from the CCC or the long-term survival of Social Security, and show that short-term success and lasting impact are not always the same. The controversy showed how Americans argued over the proper size and power of the federal government during the Great Depression.

Item analysis

Standard

US.46 — Analyze the effects of and the controversies arising from New Deal economic policies, including charges of socialism and President Franklin D. Roosevelt’s “court packing” attempt.

DOK / Hess

Level 3 — The student must construct and defend a claim using cited evidence from the source and outside knowledge. Building an argument rather than reporting one is DOK-3.

Reporting category

— (source of record: UNMAPPED)

IRT

a 1.37 · b 1.51 · c 0 (pre-field-test — estimates, not calibrated against student responses)

Format

classroom-formative (tcapFormat: false — item type is never TCAP-format under policy v1)

Bias / sensitivity

not-started

Citation

—

Historian review

Sean Reynolds,

Distractor diagnosis

no misconception named — a distractor written to be merely wrong is noise, not diagnosis

Rubric

4-point

1. 4 — Grades THREE named New Deal programs on BOTH criteria separately, and the two grades come apart for at least one program — the response shows it understands that immediate relief and long-term structural change are different achievements (the CCC put men to work quickly and left little institutional legacy; Social Security did comparatively little in 1935 and reshaped the federal government permanently). Every grade is justified with specific evidence: enrollment or spending figures, dates, what the programme actually did, what a court or Congress did to it.

2. 3 — Three named programs graded on both criteria with accurate supporting evidence. Grades are defended. The short-term/long-term distinction is present but the two grades largely track each other.
3. 2 — Three programs named but one is described inaccurately, or only two are graded on both criteria. Justification leans on general characterisation ("it helped people") rather than specific evidence.
4. 1 — Fewer than three programs, or programs misidentified as New Deal. Grades assigned with no historical justification.
5. 0 — No response, or off-topic.

6. DOCUMENT-BASED QUESTION Directions: Analyze the three primary sources below. Then respond to the prompt using evidence from ALL THREE documents and your own historical knowledge. --- DOCUMENT A National Industrial Recovery Act, Section 1 (Declaration of Policy), June 16, 1933 (National Archives, public domain): "A national emergency productive of widespread unemployment and disorganization of industry, which burdens interstate and foreign commerce...is hereby declared to exist. It is hereby declared to be the policy of Congress to remove obstructions to the free flow of interstate and foreign commerce which tend to diminish the amount thereof; and to provide for the general welfare by promoting the organization of industry for the purpose of cooperative action among trade groups..." --- DOCUMENT B National Labor Relations Act (Wagner Act), Section 1 (Findings and Policy), July 5, 1935 (National Archives, public domain): "The inequality of bargaining power between employees who do not possess full freedom of association or actual liberty of contract, and employers who are organized in the corporate or other forms of ownership association substantially burdens and affects the flow of commerce...It is hereby declared to be the policy of the United States to eliminate the causes of certain substantial obstructions to the free flow of commerce...by protecting the exercise by workers of full freedom of association, self-organization, and designation of representatives of their own choosing." --- DOCUMENT C FDR, Message to Congress on Tax Revision, June 19, 1935 (FDR Presidential Library, public domain): "Our revenue laws have operated in many ways to the unfair advantage of the few, and they have done little to prevent an unjust concentration of wealth and economic power...The very wealthy may be able to hire the ablest tax lawyers so that the letter of the tax law is followed but not the spirit...Inherited economic power is as inconsistent with the ideals of this generation as inherited political power was inconsistent with the ideals of the generation which established our Government." --- PROMPT: Using all three documents and your knowledge of the New Deal (1933–1938), construct an argument that answers: How did the New Deal evolve from the First New Deal (1933–1934) to the Second New Deal (1935–1938), and what does this evolution reveal about FDR's response to political pressure from critics on both the left and right? In your response, you MUST: 1. Analyze each document using the HIPP framework — at least ONE HIPP element per document. 2. Place each document within the First or Second New Deal phase and explain what governing philosophy it reflects. 3. Construct a central argument using all three documents AND at least two outside historical facts explaining how the shift from Document A to Documents B and C reflects a meaningful philosophical and political evolution in the New Deal. 4. Evaluate: Was the Second New Deal a genuine ideological shift toward redistribution and worker empowerment, or primarily a political strategy to neutralize critics like Huey Long and the Supreme Court?

KEY: — · DOK 4 · US.43, US.45, US.46

Why the key is right: SCORING GUIDE (6 points): 6 - Exemplary: All three documents analyzed with accurate HIPP. Correctly places NIRA in First New Deal and Wagner Act/Tax Message in Second New Deal. Argues the evolution with evidence from all three documents plus two outside facts. Evaluation of genuine vs. strategic shift is nuanced and evidence-based. Historical writing is rigorous. 5 - Advanced: Three documents with HIPP (one may be less precise). Argument traces evolution with all three documents and at least one outside fact. Evaluation present with some nuance. 4 - Proficient: Two or three documents with some HIPP. Argument traces First to Second New Deal with evidence from at least two documents and one outside fact. Evaluation present. 3 - Adequate: Two documents referenced. Argument identifies evolution in general terms. Some HIPP. Limited outside knowledge. 2 - Developing: Minimal document analysis. Argument vague about evolution. Little outside knowledge. 1 - Beginning: One document summarized. No argument. No HIPP. 0 - No response or completely off-topic. DOCUMENT ANALYSIS EXPECTATIONS: - Doc A (NIRA): First New Deal; cooperative capitalism; Context = Hundred Days emergency legislation - Doc B (Wagner Act): Second New Deal; labor rights shift; Context = post-Schechter, Long threat - Doc C (FDR Tax): Second New Deal; redistributive rhetoric; Context = Share Our Wealth pressure KEY EVIDENCE EXPECTED: NIRA (1933) and Schechter Poultry v. United States (1935); Huey Long / Share Our Wealth (4.5 million members); Wagner Act (1935) and NLRB;

Social Security Act (1935); Works Progress Administration (1935); Revenue Act of 1935 ('Soak the Rich'); CIO formation (1935); GM sit-down strike (1936–1937).

Item analysis

Standard

US.43 — Describe the impact of the Great Depression on the American people, including mass unemployment, migration, and Hoovervilles.

Standard

US.45 — Analyze the impact of the relief, recovery, and reform efforts of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal programs, including: • Agricultural Adjustment Act • Civilian Conservation Corps • Securities and Exchange Commission • Fair Labor Standards Act • Social Security • Federal Deposit Insurance • Tennessee Valley Authority • Works Progress Administration • National Recovery Administration

Standard

US.46 — Analyze the effects of and the controversies arising from New Deal economic policies, including charges of socialism and President Franklin D. Roosevelt's "court packing" attempt.

DOK / Hess

Level 4 — Student must analyze three primary sources representing distinct First and Second New Deal documents plus an opposition source, synthesizing across US.41, US.43, and US.44 to construct a cross-standard argument about the New Deal's evolution — requiring extended multi-source analysis, HIPP application, and historical judgment.

Reporting category

— (source of record: UNMAPPED)

IRT

a 1.81 · b 0.24 · c 0.0 (pre-field-test — estimates, not calibrated against student responses)

Format

classroom-formative (tcapFormat: false — item type is never TCAP-format under policy v1)

Bias / sensitivity

not-started

Citation

—

Historian review

not required

Distractor diagnosis

no misconception named — a distractor written to be merely wrong is noise, not diagnosis

Rubric

6-point

1. 6 — All three documents analyzed with accurate HIPP. Correctly places NIRA in First New Deal and Wagner Act/Tax Message in Second New Deal. Argues the evolution with evidence from all three documents plus two outside facts. Evaluation of genuine vs. strategic shift is nuanced and evidence-based. Historical writing is rigorous.

2. 5 — Three documents with HIPP (one may be less precise). Argument traces evolution with all three documents and at least one outside fact. Evaluation present with some nuance.
3. 4 — Two or three documents with some HIPP. Argument traces First to Second New Deal with evidence from at least two documents and one outside fact. Evaluation present.
4. 3 — Two documents referenced. Argument identifies evolution in general terms. Some HIPP. Limited outside knowledge.
5. 2 — Minimal document analysis. Argument vague about evolution. Little outside knowledge.
6. 1 — One document summarized. No argument. No HIPP.
7. 0 — No response or completely off-topic.

7. Marshall's speech announced what became known as which initiative?

- A. The Berlin Airlift to the blockaded city
- B. The Marshall Plan for European recovery
- C. The North Atlantic Treaty Organization
- D. The Eisenhower Doctrine for the Middle East

KEY: B · DOK 1 · US.60

Why the key is right: The Marshall Plan, formally the European Recovery Program announced by Secretary of State George Marshall at Harvard on June 5, 1947, became the initiative the speech launched. Choice D is wrong because the Eisenhower Doctrine came a decade later (1957) and addressed the Middle East, not European recovery. Choice C is wrong because NATO was a military alliance signed in 1949, not the economic-aid program Marshall announced. Marshall Plan aid totaled $13.3 billion to sixteen Western European nations between 1948 and 1952, anchoring containment through economic stabilization.

A — The Berlin Airlift was a 1948-49 supply operation for one city, not a Europe-wide recovery programme.

C — NATO was a 1949 military alliance. The Marshall Plan was economic aid and came first.

D — The Eisenhower Doctrine came a decade later, in 1957, and addressed the Middle East.

Item analysis

Standard

US.60 — Analyze the Cold War policies of containment and the Truman Doctrine, Marshall Plan, and Berlin Airlift.

DOK / Hess

Level 1 — The student recalls which initiative a named speech announced. One retrieved association, which is DOK-1.

Reporting category

— (source of record: UNMAPPED)

IRT

a 0.8 · b -1.0 · c 0.25 (pre-field-test — estimates, not calibrated against student responses)

Format

classroom-formative (tcapFormat: false — not affirmed — no human has judged this item field-testable)

Bias / sensitivity

not-started

Citation

—

Historian review

Sean Reynolds,

Distractor diagnosis

A — confuses a single-city operation with a continental aid programme; C — confuses economic aid with the military alliance; D — confuses the Marshall Plan with the Eisenhower Doctrine

8. What was the primary goal of the Truman Doctrine?

- A. Form a permanent military and economic alliance with the Soviet Union against Asian nations
- B. Expand United States colonial territories across Asia and the Pacific Island regions
- C. Contain the spread of communism by supporting free nations resisting Soviet subjugation
- D. Return the United States to a policy of isolationism and avoid all foreign entanglements

KEY: C · DOK 1 · US.60

Why the key is right: The primary goal of the Truman Doctrine was to contain the spread of communism by supporting free nations resisting Soviet subjugation. Containment aimed to stop the spread of communism without triggering another world war. D is incorrect because it describes a different program, event, or idea than this Cold War development. It shaped the early Cold War and the postwar order the United States helped build after 1945.

A — The Truman Doctrine was directed AGAINST Soviet expansion; an alliance with the Soviet Union is its opposite.

B — No territory was claimed. Aid to Greece and Turkey was support for existing governments, not colonial acquisition.

D — The doctrine ended the possibility of postwar isolationism by committing the United States to intervene abroad in peacetime.

Item analysis

Standard

US.60 — Analyze the Cold War policies of containment and the Truman Doctrine, Marshall Plan, and Berlin Airlift.

DOK / Hess

Level 1 — The student recalls the stated aim of a named doctrine. A single retrieved fact, which is DOK-1; weighing whether containment succeeded would be DOK-3.

Reporting category

— (source of record: UNMAPPED)

IRT

a 0.93 · b -0.71 · c 0.23 (pre-field-test — estimates, not calibrated against student responses)

Format

classroom-formative (tcapFormat: false — not affirmed — no human has judged this item field-testable)

Bias / sensitivity

not-started

Citation

—

Historian review

Sean Reynolds,

Distractor diagnosis

A — reverses which power the doctrine was aimed at; B — confuses supporting a government with acquiring territory; D — confuses the doctrine with the isolationism it replaced

9. Use the photograph to answer the question. This photograph shows a U.S. Air Force C-54 Skymaster cargo plane flying low over a crowd of German civilians as it approaches Tempelhof Airport in Berlin during the summer of 1948. (Photograph, 1948. U.S. Air Force.) How did the Berlin Airlift shown in this photograph reflect the U.S. policy of containment during the early Cold War?

- A. The U.S. imposed economic sanctions that forced the Soviet Union to end communism
- B. The U.S. used military force to drive Soviet troops out of the eastern sector of Berlin
- C. The U.S. negotiated a peace treaty that divided Germany into permanent zones
- D. The U.S. showed resolve against Soviet expansion without direct force

KEY: D · DOK 2 · US.60

Why the key is right: The Berlin Airlift exemplified containment by resisting Soviet pressure over West Berlin through non-military means, demonstrating American commitment to opposing communist expansion without triggering direct armed conflict.

A — Sanctions were not the instrument, and Soviet communism continued for four more decades.

B — No Soviet troops were driven out. The airlift deliberately avoided force by flying over the blockade instead of breaking it.

C — Germany's division was not settled by a treaty during the airlift; the blockade ended in 1949 without one.

Item analysis

Standard

US.60 — Analyze the Cold War policies of containment and the Truman Doctrine, Marshall Plan, and Berlin Airlift.

DOK / Hess

Level 2 — The student must interpret an image of a supply flight and infer the strategic message it sent — evidence to inference, which is DOK-2. Identifying the aircraft or the city would be DOK-1.

Reporting category

— (source of record: UNMAPPED)

IRT

a 1.3 · b 0.1 · c 0.2 (pre-field-test — estimates, not calibrated against student responses)

Format

classroom-formative (tcapFormat: false — not affirmed — no human has judged this item field-testable)

Bias / sensitivity

not-started

Citation

—

Historian review

Sean Reynolds,

Distractor diagnosis

A — attributes the end of Soviet communism to a 1948 operation; B — reads a non-military response as a military one; C — invents a negotiated settlement for the blockade

10. The Truman Doctrine established what new direction for U.S. foreign policy?

- A. A commitment to support nations resisting communist expansion
- B. A return to isolationism after World War II
- C. Recognition of the Soviet Union as an ally
- D. Withdrawal from the United Nations

KEY: A · DOK 2 · US.60

Why the key is right: The Truman Doctrine, articulated in President Truman's March 12, 1947, address to Congress requesting $400 million in aid for Greece and Turkey, established U.S. commitment to support nations resisting communist expansion. The doctrine reframed U.S. foreign policy from regional intervention to a global containment strategy and provided the rationale for subsequent Cold War commitments including the Marshall Plan, NATO, and Korean War involvement. Choice B is wrong because the doctrine explicitly rejected isolationism. Choice C is wrong because Truman cast the Soviet Union as the principal adversary the doctrine was designed to counter. Choice D is wrong because the United States was a founding member and host of the United Nations.

B — The doctrine did the reverse: it committed the United States to peacetime intervention abroad and ended the interwar isolationist position.

C — The Soviet Union had been a wartime ally, and the doctrine marks the point at which that relationship was publicly abandoned.

D — The United States remained in the United Nations and used it during the Cold War, including in Korea.

Item analysis

Standard

US.60 — Analyze the Cold War policies of containment and the Truman Doctrine, Marshall Plan, and Berlin Airlift.

DOK / Hess

Level 2 — The student must characterise a shift in policy direction rather than recall the doctrine's name — connecting a specific commitment to a broader change, which is DOK-2.

Reporting category

— (source of record: UNMAPPED)

IRT

a 1.0 · b 0.0 · c 0.25 (pre-field-test — estimates, not calibrated against student responses)

Format

classroom-formative (tcapFormat: false — not affirmed — no human has judged this item field-testable)

Bias / sensitivity

not-started

Citation

—

Historian review

Sean Reynolds,

Distractor diagnosis

B — reverses the direction of the postwar policy shift; C — keeps the wartime alliance the doctrine was written to end; D — invents a withdrawal that did not happen

11. Compare the Marshall Plan (1948) with modern American foreign aid programs. What principles from the Marshall Plan's success could be applied to current challenges? What limitations would such an approach face today?

KEY: — · DOK 3 · US.60

Why the key is right: The Marshall Plan worked because it provided large-scale economic aid, encouraged European cooperation, and matched American self-interest with recovery in Western Europe. A strong response should compare those principles to modern foreign aid while also noting limits, such as weaker political consensus today and different conditions outside postwar Europe. This comparison shows how Cold War policy mixed idealism with strategic goals.

Item analysis

Standard

US.60 — Analyze the Cold War policies of containment and the Truman Doctrine, Marshall Plan, and Berlin Airlift.

DOK / Hess

Level 3 — The student must build an evidence-based argument and reason from it to a conclusion, which is DOK-3 rather than the retrieval or interpretation of DOK-1 and DOK-2.

Reporting category

— (source of record: UNMAPPED)

IRT

a 1.76 · b 1.42 · c 0.0 (pre-field-test — estimates, not calibrated against student responses)

Format

classroom-formative (tcapFormat: false — item type is never TCAP-format under policy v1)

Bias / sensitivity

not-started

Citation

—

Historian review

Sean Reynolds,

Distractor diagnosis

no misconception named — a distractor written to be merely wrong is noise, not diagnosis

Rubric

4-point

- 1. 4 — Identifies specific principles behind the Marshall Plan's success — its scale, its requirement that recipients cooperate and plan jointly, and the alignment of American economic self-interest with European recovery — and applies them to a NAMED contemporary aid context rather than to foreign aid in general. The limitations are historically grounded: post-war Europe had industrial capacity and institutions to rebuild, the aid ran through a bipartisan Cold War consensus, and the recipients were states that wanted it. Comparison runs in both directions; it does not simply recommend repeating the Plan.
- 2. 3 — Names at least two real principles and applies them to a contemporary context with reasonable specificity. Limitations are identified and plausible, if not fully developed.

- 3. 2 — Describes the Marshall Plan accurately but the modern comparison stays generic ("we should help other countries more"). Limitations are asserted rather than explained.
- 4. 1 — Marshall Plan described inaccurately or only by name. No usable comparison or limitation.
- 5. 0 — No response, or off-topic.

12. DOCUMENT-BASED QUESTION: The Origins of the Cold War Directions: Read the following three primary source excerpts and then respond to the prompt below. In your response, analyze each document using the HIPP framework (Historical context, Intended audience, Purpose, Point of view) and construct an evidence-based argument. --- DOCUMENT A: George Kennan, "The Long Telegram," February 22, 1946 — declassified U.S. State Department cable, available through the National Archives: "We have here a political force committed fanatically to the belief that with US there can be no permanent modus vivendi, that it is desirable and necessary that the internal harmony of our society be disrupted, our traditional way of life be destroyed, the international authority of our state be broken, if Soviet power is to be secured." DOCUMENT B: Winston Churchill, "The Sinews of Peace" (Iron Curtain Speech), Westminster College, Fulton, Missouri, March 5, 1946 — public address, transcript available through Westminster College archives: "From Stettin in the Baltic to Trieste in the Adriatic, an iron curtain has descended across the Continent. Behind that line lie all the capitals of the ancient states of Central and Eastern Europe... all are subject in one form or another, not only to Soviet influence but to a very high and in many cases increasing measure of control from Moscow." DOCUMENT C: Harry S. Truman, Address to Congress (Truman Doctrine), March 12, 1947 — U.S. government document, National Archives: "At the present moment in world history nearly every nation must choose between alternative ways of life. The choice is too often not a free one. One way of life is based upon the will of the majority... The second way of life is based upon the will of a minority forcibly imposed upon the majority." --- Using all three documents and your knowledge of Cold War origins (US.59–US.60), construct an argument that evaluates the relative roles of ideology and geopolitical strategy in causing the Cold War. Apply HIPP analysis to at least two of the three documents and use outside historical knowledge to support your argument. Your response should address: (1) what each document reveals about U.S./Western perceptions of the Soviet threat; (2) whether the Cold War was primarily an ideological conflict or a geopolitical competition for power; and (3) whether alternative outcomes were possible given the structural conditions of 1945–1947.

KEY: — · DOK 4 · US.60

Why the key is right: SCORING GUIDE (6 points): 6 - Exemplary: Presents a precise, historically arguable thesis on the ideology/geopolitics question. Applies full HIPP analysis to at least two documents, identifying historical context, audience, purpose, AND point of view for each. Uses outside historical evidence (minimum 3 specific facts) not from the documents. Addresses all three prompt components: perceptions, causation debate, and alternative outcomes. Demonstrates sophisticated understanding of historiographical debate. 5 - Advanced: Clear thesis. Full HIPP applied to two documents (may be incomplete on one element for one document). Two pieces of outside evidence. Addresses two of three prompt components thoroughly. 4 - Proficient: Arguable thesis. HIPP partially applied to two documents (addresses 2–3 elements per document). One piece of outside evidence. Addresses at least two prompt components. 3 - Adequate: General thesis. Analyzes at least two documents but without systematic HIPP. Uses document evidence but limited outside knowledge. Addresses one prompt component clearly. 2 - Developing: Basic claim. References at least one document but analysis is mostly summary. Minimal outside evidence. Prompt components addressed superficially. 1 - Beginning: Attempts a response. May reference documents but without analysis. Little to no outside evidence. Does not address prompt components. 0 - No response or off-topic. DOCUMENT ANALYSIS EXPECTATIONS: For Document A — HIPP should identify Kennan's diplomatic vantage point, State Dept. audience, warning purpose, and his trained diplomat's point of view that shaped his perception. For Document B — HIPP should note Churchill's political status, the American audience (Truman present), the galvanizing purpose, and Churchill's imperial Great Power point of view. For Document C — HIPP should identify the immediate Greece/Turkey crisis, the congressional audience, the funding request purpose, and Truman's Manichean framing as a political strategy. KEY EVIDENCE EXPECTED: Yalta and Potsdam tensions; Soviet satellite states (1945–1948); Soviet rejection of Marshall Plan; Berlin Blockade (1948–1949); Soviet atomic test (1949); Chinese Communist victory (1949); NSC-68 (1950) as ideological escalation.

Item analysis

Standard

US.60 — Analyze the Cold War policies of containment and the Truman Doctrine, Marshall Plan, and Berlin Airlift.

DOK / Hess

Level 4 — Student must synthesize across multiple standards and sources, constructing an extended argument that connects US.59, US.60 through evidence-based reasoning requiring sustained analytical writing.

Reporting category

— (source of record: UNMAPPED)

IRT

a 2.47 · b 0.88 · c 0.0 (pre-field-test — estimates, not calibrated against student responses)

Format

classroom-formative (tcapFormat: false — item type is never TCAP-format under policy v1)

Bias / sensitivity

not-started

Citation

—

Historian review

not required

Distractor diagnosis

no misconception named — a distractor written to be merely wrong is noise, not diagnosis

Rubric

6-point

1. 6 — Presents a precise, historically arguable thesis on the ideology/geopolitics question. Applies full HIPP analysis to at least two documents, identifying historical context, audience, purpose, AND point of view for each. Uses outside historical evidence (minimum 3 specific facts) not from the documents. Addresses all three prompt components: perceptions, causation debate, and alternative outcomes. Demonstrates sophisticated understanding of historiographical debate.
2. 5 — Clear thesis. Full HIPP applied to two documents (may be incomplete on one element for one document). Two pieces of outside evidence. Addresses two of three prompt components thoroughly.
3. 4 — Arguable thesis. HIPP partially applied to two documents (addresses 2–3 elements per document). One piece of outside evidence. Addresses at least two prompt components.
4. 3 — General thesis. Analyzes at least two documents but without systematic HIPP. Uses document evidence but limited outside knowledge. Addresses one prompt component clearly.
5. 2 — Basic claim. References at least one document but analysis is mostly summary. Minimal outside evidence. Prompt components addressed superficially.
6. 1 — Attempts a response. May reference documents but without analysis. Little to no outside evidence. Does not address prompt components.
7. 0 — No response or off-topic.

13. Use the photograph to answer the question. This photograph shows the massive excavation of the Culebra Cut during construction of the Panama Canal, c. 1910. Workers and heavy equipment can be seen carving through the mountainous terrain of the Panamanian isthmus. (Photograph, c. 1910. Public Domain.) Which president was MOST responsible for initiating the construction project shown in this photograph?

- A. William McKinley
- B. Theodore Roosevelt
- C. William Howard Taft
- D. Woodrow Wilson

KEY: B · DOK 1 · US.23

Why the key is right: President Theodore Roosevelt championed the construction of the Panama Canal. After supporting Panama's independence from Colombia in 1903, Roosevelt negotiated the Hay-Bunau-Varilla Treaty to secure the Canal Zone. Construction began in 1904 and the canal opened in 1914.

- A — McKinley was president during the Spanish-American War and was assassinated in 1901, before canal construction began.
C — Taft succeeded Roosevelt and oversaw later construction, but the acquisition and decision were Roosevelt's.
D — Wilson took office in 1913, the year before the canal opened; he did not initiate it.

Item analysis

Standard

US.23 — Describe the effects of American imperialism, including: • Spanish-American War • Annexation of Hawaii • Panama Canal • Philippine Insurrection • Access to Cuba • Roosevelt Corollary

DOK / Hess

Level 1 — The student recalls which president is associated with building the canal. A single retrieved fact, which is DOK-1.

Reporting category

— (source of record: UNMAPPED)

IRT

a 1 · b -1 · c 0.22 (pre-field-test — estimates, not calibrated against student responses)

Format

classroom-formative (tcapFormat: false — not affirmed — no human has judged this item field-testable)

Bias / sensitivity

not-started

Citation

—

Historian review

Sean Reynolds,

Distractor diagnosis

A — assigns the canal to the preceding administration; C — credits Roosevelt's successor with the decision; D — credits the president in office at completion rather than construction

14. Use the political cartoon to answer the question. The 1898 cartoon shows Uncle Sam seated at a restaurant table, looking at a menu containing 'Cuba Steak,' 'Porto Rico Pig,' 'Philippine Floating Islands,' and 'Sandwich Islands (Hawaii).' President McKinley stands as the waiter. The cartoon comments on American territorial expansion after the Spanish-American War. In this cartoon, what does Uncle Sam being seated at the restaurant menu most directly represent?

- A. The United States refusing to accept any new territorial responsibilities after defeating Spain
- B. American diplomats negotiating new trade agreements with independent Caribbean republics
- C. The United States choosing which territories to acquire after defeating Spain
- D. President McKinley choosing between military options for fighting the Spanish-American War

KEY: C · DOK 1 · US.23

Why the key is right: C is correct: By depicting Uncle Sam choosing from a menu of territories like Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Philippines, and Hawaii, the cartoon represents the United States deciding which territories to acquire after defeating Spain in 1898. The restaurant metaphor makes territorial acquisition look like a consumer choice. A is incorrect: Uncle Sam is selecting from the menu, not refusing — the cartoon shows the U.S. as the decision-maker about which territories to take. B is incorrect: the menu items are territories, not trade agreements or diplomacy. D is incorrect: McKinley as the waiter suggests he is facilitating the choice, but the cartoon is about territorial selection, not a comparison of military options.

A — A refusal would be shown by pushing the menu away. Reading the menu is the act of choosing.

B — The territories on the menu were annexed or occupied, not treated as independent trading partners.

D — The cartoon is dated after the fighting, and the menu lists territories rather than military options.

Item analysis

Standard

US.23 — Describe the effects of American imperialism, including: • Spanish-American War • Annexation of Hawaii • Panama Canal • Philippine Insurrection • Access to Cuba • Roosevelt Corollary

DOK / Hess

Level 1 — The cartoon's own labels name the territories on the menu, so the student recognises the subject rather than analysing an unstated argument. That recognition is DOK-1; asking what the cartoonist thought of expansion would be DOK-3.

Reporting category

— (source of record: UNMAPPED)

IRT

a 0.9 · b -0.4 · c 0.2 (pre-field-test — estimates, not calibrated against student responses)

Format

classroom-formative (tcapFormat: false — not affirmed — no human has judged this item field-testable)

Bias / sensitivity

not-started

Citation

—

Historian review

Sean Reynolds,

Distractor diagnosis

A — reverses what the menu imagery represents; B — recasts annexation as trade negotiation; D — places the cartoon before the war rather than after

15. Read the excerpt below. "I took the Canal Zone and let Congress debate, and while the debate goes on, the canal does also." — President Theodore Roosevelt, Lecture at University of California, 1911 Which of the following best describes the controversy surrounding Roosevelt's acquisition of the Panama Canal Zone?

- A. Roosevelt used U.S. taxpayer money to pay other nations to build the canal without congressional authorization.
- B. Panama declared independence from Spain with U.S. support specifically to gain the economic benefits of the canal.
- C. Roosevelt seized the Canal Zone from France, which had originally agreed to sell it to the United States but then backed out.
- D. The U.S. backed Panama's revolution against Colombia to obtain the canal rights

KEY: D · DOK 2 · US.23

Why the key is right: Roosevelt's boastful admission that he 'took' the Canal Zone without waiting for Congress refers to the U.S. role in supporting Panama's revolution against Colombia. When Colombia refused to ratify the canal treaty, the U.S. encouraged Panamanian independence, recognized Panama immediately, and signed a favorable canal treaty. Critics argued this was an illegal use of presidential power and violated Colombia's sovereignty. Option C is incorrect because France originally attempted to build the canal, not Colombia. Option A is incorrect because the canal was not paid for by other nations. Option B is incorrect because Panama gained independence from Colombia, not from Spain.

A — The United States built the canal itself with its own workforce rather than paying other nations to build it.

B — Panama declared independence from Colombia, not Spain; Spain had lost its mainland American colonies eighty years earlier.

C — The French company sold its concession and equipment; the sovereignty dispute was with Colombia, not France.

Item analysis

Standard

US.23 — Describe the effects of American imperialism, including: • Spanish-American War •

Annexation of Hawaii • Panama Canal • Philippine Insurrection • Access to Cuba • Roosevelt Corollary

DOK / Hess

Level 2 — The student must interpret Roosevelt's boast and connect it to the actual sequence of events in Panama — inference from a source, which is DOK-2.

Reporting category

— (source of record: UNMAPPED)

IRT

a 1.3 · b 0.3 · c 0.2 (pre-field-test — estimates, not calibrated against student responses)

Format

classroom-formative (tcapFormat: false — not affirmed — no human has judged this item field-testable)

Bias / sensitivity

not-started

Citation

—

Historian review

Sean Reynolds,

Distractor diagnosis

A — assumes the canal was contracted out to other nations; B — confuses Colombia with Spain as the colonial power; C — substitutes France for Colombia as the aggrieved party

16. Read the excerpt below. "The construction of the canal required the labor of tens of thousands of workers — Jamaicans, Barbadians, Spanish workers — in brutal tropical conditions. Yellow fever and malaria killed thousands before Dr. Gorgas brought the diseases under control." — David McCullough, The Path Between the Seas, 1977 Which of the following best describes a major challenge that had to be overcome to complete the Panama Canal?

- A. Tropical disease, especially yellow fever and malaria, killed thousands of workers until a mosquito-control campaign cut the death rate
- B. The lack of adequate explosives technology meant engineers had to rely entirely on hand-dug excavations.
- C. The engineers had to redirect four major rivers that flooded the construction site annually.
- D. The project faced a severe labor shortage because American workers refused to work in tropical conditions.

KEY: A · DOK 2 · US.23

Why the key is right: One of the greatest obstacles to building the Panama Canal was tropical disease — particularly yellow fever and malaria, which killed thousands of French workers in the earlier failed attempt. Dr. William Gorgas implemented a massive mosquito eradication campaign based on the theory that mosquitoes spread disease (then a new scientific understanding), which dramatically reduced the death rate and made the construction feasible. Option C is incorrect because the engineering challenge was the mountainous terrain, not river flooding (though landslides were a problem). Option D is incorrect because labor was plentiful — it was disease, not shortage of workers, that was the main challenge. Option B is incorrect because dynamite was readily available — the explosive used was a technological advance, not a limitation.

B — Dynamite and steam shovels were used extensively; the Culebra Cut was blasted, not dug by hand.

C — The Chagres River was dammed rather than redirected, and it was one river, not four.

D — There was no labour shortage: tens of thousands of Caribbean and European workers were recruited, which is what the source describes.

Item analysis

Standard

US.23 — Describe the effects of American imperialism, including: • Spanish-American War • Annexation of Hawaii • Panama Canal • Philippine Insurrection • Access to Cuba • Roosevelt Corollary

DOK / Hess

Level 2 — The student must weigh the obstacles described in the source and identify which one the evidence supports as decisive — evaluating evidence for a claim, which is DOK-2.

Reporting category

— (source of record: UNMAPPED)

IRT

a 1.1 · b 0.1 · c 0.2 (pre-field-test — estimates, not calibrated against student responses)

Format

classroom-formative (tcapFormat: false — not affirmed — no human has judged this item field-testable)

Bias / sensitivity

not-started

Citation

—

Historian review

Sean Reynolds,

Distractor diagnosis

B — assumes excavation was manual; C — overstates the hydrological problem and its scale; D — contradicts the source, which documents abundant recruited labour

17. Analyze how American imperialism in the late 1800s reflected BOTH idealistic and self-interested motivations. Use evidence from at least THREE specific events or policies (e.g., Spanish-American War, annexation of Hawaii, Open Door Policy, Panama Canal, Philippine-American War). Then evaluate whether imperialism ultimately strengthened or weakened American democratic ideals.

KEY: — · DOK 3 · US.23

Why the key is right: A strong response should show that American imperialism mixed idealistic language about spreading liberty or “civilization” with self-interested goals such as new markets, naval bases, and national prestige. It should use at least three specific examples, such as the Spanish-American War, annexation of Hawaii, the Open Door Policy, the Panama Canal, or the Philippine-American War, and then judge whether those actions strengthened or weakened democratic ideals. This prompt is important because it asks students to weigh American expansion against the nation’s stated commitment to self-government.

Item analysis

Standard

US.23 — Describe the effects of American imperialism, including: • Spanish-American War •

Annexation of Hawaii • Panama Canal • Philippine Insurrection • Access to Cuba • Roosevelt Corollary

DOK / Hess

Level 3 — The student must weigh competing motives against evidence and argue a position, which requires strategic reasoning — DOK-3.

Reporting category

— (source of record: UNMAPPED)

IRT

a 1.34 · b 0.55 · c 0 (pre-field-test — estimates, not calibrated against student responses)

Format

classroom-formative (tcapFormat: false — item type is never TCAP-format under policy v1)

Bias / sensitivity

not-started

Citation

—

Historian review

Sean Reynolds,

Distractor diagnosis

no misconception named — a distractor written to be merely wrong is noise, not diagnosis

Rubric

4-point

1. 4 — Names THREE specific events or policies (e.g. the Spanish-American War, the annexation of Hawaii, the Open Door Policy, the Panama Canal, the Philippine-American War) and shows each carrying BOTH an idealistic justification and a self-interested motive — not three examples of one and none of the other. Quotes or closely paraphrases the era's own language ("civilization", "duty", "markets", "coaling stations") rather than asserting motive. The evaluation takes a clear position on whether imperialism strengthened or weakened American democratic ideals and defends it against the strongest objection to it, most often the Philippines.

2. 3 — Three specific examples, accurate, with both motive types present across the response even if one example carries only one. Evidence is concrete. The evaluation states a position and supports it, but does not engage a counterargument.
3. 2 — Two or three examples, at least one imprecise or misdated. Idealism and self-interest are both named but treated as labels rather than shown in the evidence. The evaluation is asserted without support.
4. 1 — Fewer than two usable examples, or examples outside the period. Motives are described generally ("America wanted power") with no specific policy attached. No evaluation, or an evaluation that restates the prompt.
5. 0 — No response, or off-topic.

18. Document-Based Question: The Spanish-American War and the Question of Empire, 1898 Directions: Read the three documents below. Then write a well-organized essay that constructs an argument addressing the following question: Did the Spanish-American War represent a turning point in American foreign policy, or was it the inevitable product of forces already at work in American society and politics? Your essay must: — Apply SOAPS analysis (Speaker, Occasion, Audience, Purpose, Significance) to at least two of the three documents — Use evidence from all three documents — Incorporate outside knowledge of the period — Construct a clear, defensible argument --- DOCUMENT 1 President William McKinley, War Message to Congress, April 11, 1898 — Bryan, William Jennings, ed., Republic or Empire (1899), public domain, public domain: "The present condition of affairs in Cuba is a constant menace to our peace and entails upon this Government an enormous expense. With such a conflict waged for years in an island so near our border and with which our people have such trade and business relations; when the lives and liberty of our citizens are in constant danger and their property destroyed and themselves ruined; where our trading vessels are liable to seizure and are seized at our very door by warships of a foreign nation — the expedient of enforcing American interests will justify forceful intervention." --- DOCUMENT 2 Teller Amendment, April 20, 1898, Bryan, William Jennings, ed., Republic or Empire (1899), public domain — public domain: "Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives... That the United States hereby disclaims any disposition or intention to exercise sovereignty, jurisdiction, or control over said Island except for the pacification thereof, and asserts its determination, when that is accomplished, to leave the government and control of the Island to its people." --- DOCUMENT 3 Platt Amendment, 1901, Statutes at Large of the United States — public domain: "The government of Cuba consents that the United States may exercise the right to intervene for the preservation of Cuban independence, the maintenance of a government adequate for protecting life, property, and individual liberty, and for discharging the obligations with respect to Cuba imposed by the Treaty of Paris on the United States... Cuba will sell or lease to the United States lands necessary for coaling or naval stations at certain specified points to be agreed upon with the President of the United States."

KEY: — · DOK 4 · US.22, US.23

Why the key is right: SCORING GUIDE (6 points): 6 - Exemplary: Complex thesis addressing both 'turning point' and 'inevitable product' dimensions. SOAPS analysis of at least two documents accurately and specifically. Cross-document synthesis (Teller → Platt contradiction). Extensive outside knowledge. Well-organized argumentative essay. 5 - Advanced: Clear thesis. SOAPS applied to at least two documents accurately. Good outside knowledge. Addresses the Teller/Platt contradiction but may not fully develop the 'turning point vs. inevitable' framework. 4 - Proficient: Clear thesis. Uses all three documents as evidence. SOAPS applied to at least two documents with reasonable accuracy. Some outside knowledge. Coherent argument. 3 - Adequate: Thesis present but simple. Uses two or more documents. Some SOAPS elements. Limited outside knowledge. Some organizational issues. 2 - Developing: Weak or no thesis. Uses one or two documents without SOAPS. Little outside knowledge. Descriptive rather than argumentative. 1 - Beginning: No thesis. Minimal document use. No SOAPS. No outside knowledge. 0 - No response or completely off-topic. DOCUMENT ANALYSIS EXPECTATIONS: — Doc 1: McKinley's economic/commercial framing; distinguish from humanitarian yellow-press justification; note 'enforcing American interests' as the operative phrase. — Doc 2: Teller's explicit anti-annexation intent; note its unanimous passage alongside the war authorization; significance = set up later contradiction with Platt. — Doc 3: Platt's intervention rights and naval basing provisions; note this was imposed as a condition of U.S. military withdrawal; Cuba had no real choice; significance = established protectorate in all but name. KEY EVIDENCE EXPECTED: Mahan's influence; De Lôme Letter; USS Maine (Feb. 15, 1898); Commodore Dewey Manila Bay (May 1, 1898); Battle of San Juan Hill; Treaty of Paris (1898); Philippine acquisition; Teller-to-Platt contradiction; Guantanamo Bay lease (still in force); Cuba as protectorate 1901–1934.

Item analysis

Standard

US.22 — Compare and contrast the arguments of imperialists and non-imperialists of the period.

Standard

US.23 — Describe the effects of American imperialism, including: • Spanish-American War •

Annexation of Hawaii • Panama Canal • Philippine Insurrection • Access to Cuba • Roosevelt Corollary

DOK / Hess

Level 4 — Student must synthesize across multiple standards and sources, constructing an extended argument that connects US.20, US.21 through evidence-based reasoning requiring sustained analytical writing.

Reporting category

— (source of record: UNMAPPED)

IRT

a 2.2 · b 0.74 · c 0.0 (pre-field-test — estimates, not calibrated against student responses)

Format

classroom-formative (tcapFormat: false — item type is never TCAP-format under policy v1)

Bias / sensitivity

not-started

Citation

—

Historian review

not required

Distractor diagnosis

no misconception named — a distractor written to be merely wrong is noise, not diagnosis

Rubric

6-point

1. 6 — Complex thesis addressing both 'turning point' and 'inevitable product' dimensions. SOAPS analysis of at least two documents accurately and specifically. Cross-document synthesis (Teller → Platt contradiction). Extensive outside knowledge. Well-organized argumentative essay.
2. 5 — Clear thesis. SOAPS applied to at least two documents accurately. Good outside knowledge. Addresses the Teller/Platt contradiction but may not fully develop the 'turning point vs. inevitable' framework.
3. 4 — Clear thesis. Uses all three documents as evidence. SOAPS applied to at least two documents with reasonable accuracy. Some outside knowledge. Coherent argument.
4. 3 — Thesis present but simple. Uses two or more documents. Some SOAPS elements. Limited outside knowledge. Some organizational issues.
5. 2 — Weak or no thesis. Uses one or two documents without SOAPS. Little outside knowledge. Descriptive rather than argumentative.
6. 1 — No thesis. Minimal document use. No SOAPS. No outside knowledge.
7. 0 — No response or completely off-topic.